I've been lucky enough to call the Perth hills home from day one, starting my life in the foothills suburb of Forrestfield. My childhood was spent building cubbies in the bush, playing netball at Ray Owen and regularly risking my life on the metal merry-go-round that used to be in Stirk Park.

Like many who grew up here I moved away as a young adult. To explore living in different places around Perth and interstate, before making my way back home.

As a communications professional working across stakeholder engagement, sales, PR and marketing, I've spent my working life shaping the interactions organisations have with different people. I know that clear, honest and accessible information builds trust and enables participation.

With this in mind I'd like to serve my community in the best way I know how. Let me be a strong voice for our city, connecting you with council openly. Ensuring you stay informed and our community needs are not only listened to, but advocated for and implemented.
